Conservation of Bridges. A joint project of Gifford and Partners and England's Highways Agency, Conservation of Bridges, billed itself as "the first publication to be devoted solely to the conservation of all bridges." The book includes an appendix of Highways Agency bridges constructed up to 1915, a bridge index, and a general index, as well as tables in many of the chapters that summarize the detailed text. Conservation of Bridges was published by Spon Press.

Dr. Brian Ridout

Timber Decay in Buildings: A Conservation Approach to Treatment. Commissioned as a joint undertaking by English Heritage and Historic Scotland in association with Spon Press, this book synthesized and expanded upon existing knowledge about the complex interactions among wood, decay organisms, and the building environment and provided a practical conservation framework for decision-making.
